Rate of interest on loans by banks

†1513. SHRI RAM JETHMALANI:
SHRI RAVI SHANKAR PRASAD:

Will the Minister of FINANCE be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that Public Sector as well as private sector banks offer loans for various sectors and charge interest thereon; and

(b) the minimum and the maximum rate of interest fixed by banks for the year 2005-06 for different categories of loans, category-wise?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE (SHRI PAWAN KUMAR BANSAL) : (a) and (b) Yes, Sir. The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has deregulated the interest rate on advances above Rs. 2 lakh w.e.f. October 18, 1994. The Boards of the Banks have been empowered to decide the Benchmark Prime Lending Rate (BPLR) as also the spread over BPLR. The individual banks, therefore, determine interest rates to be charged to a particular borrower subject to the BPLR and spread guidelines. For credit limits up to Rs. 2 lakh, banks have been asked to charge interest not exceeding to their BPLR. Banks are free to charge interest on consumer loans/housing loans without reference to their BPLR.

The median lending rate for term loans in respect of public sector banks was 8.00-11.63 per cent in December, 2005 as agaisnt 8.38-12.00 per cent in March 2005 while it moved to 9.25-13.00 per cent in respect of private sector banks from 9.00-13.00 per cent during the same period.
